LA SALLE COLLEGE

philadelphia, pennsylvania

We've lived within

Our school, La Salle, has seen many new physical developments during the past four years. The future has in store many more.

The newest additions to our campus are two additional Residence Halls. These structures were completed in the summer of 1956. St. Cassian Hall and St. Denis Hall are each capable of accommodating sixty-five students. On the eastern side of the Residence Halls a paved parking area has been constructed.

The first of the projected plans for the development of La Salle to become a reality will be a Student Union Building. Estimated cost of the structure is one million dollars. It will provide more adequate dining facilities for the resident students and will include cafeteria facilities for the day students. Of radial design and comprising four stories, it will house recreation rooms and service areas, the aforementioned cafeteria, a snack bar, a faculty dining room, the Campus store, an expansive lobby, student lounges, music rooms, private reception rooms, student activity rooms, and a small theatre. The theatre will accommodate five hundred people and will comprise one wing of the Student Union.

an expanding metropolis

Further in the future will be a Science Building, the estimated cost of which is one and three-quarter million dollars. The High School will be moved to another site at a cost of one and three-quarter million dollars.

Also in the future is a Student Chapel to provide adequate facilities for campus religious activities, a Business Administration building to accommodate the College's rapidly expanding School of Business, and a Field House to replace the present Gymnasium. The cost of the Business Administration Building is estimated to be one and one quarter million dollars and the Field House will cost approximately a quarter million more.

Dedication

For four years many telling factors have played their part in supplying us with the full benefit of a Catholic college education. Among these factors we must give a prominent place to the inspiring example of those who spent themselves in the task of preparing us to meet the demands of life as these demands will make themselves felt in our chosen fields of future endeavor.

In the President of La Salle College, Brother Stanislaus, we found the ideal exemplar of adherence to religious ideals and to all that makes for progressive and purposeful administration. His record of accomplishment in the further development of our college has been exceeded only by his aims for a greater La Salle.

To Brother Stanislaus, the helmsman guiding La Salle to larger harbors, and commemorating his twenty-five years of devoted service to God and to La Salle, we the Class of 1957, respectfully dedicate our yearbook.

A memory enshrined

La Salle is deeply in debt to the unfailing assistance of the Sacred Heart to Whom it has dedicated all its dreams, its hopes, and its efforts. As the curtain rings down on our four years at La Salle we pray that we may ever remember that the Sacred Heart was the original source of all that we received. His assistance always aided the efforts of our teachers and provided the facilities for our spiritual, mental and physical education. "Sacred Heart of Jesus, I trust in Thee."

Brother E. Stanislaus, F.S.C., Ph.D., LL.,D.
President

A large corporation is only as good as its executive. On his achievements the organization will stand or fall, will expand or die. Like the corporation, the organization of La Salle stands as a staunch tribute to its President. For the growth of La Salle is directly responsible to Brother Stanislaus. As her President, he has directed La Salle in her largest expansion program in her history, so that today we see La Salle with her largest enrollment since her founding. But he has not stopped here, for the next few years shall see a college with facilities standing as an unfailing tribute to him under whose guidance all this was made possible . . . Brother Stanislaus.

They kept us in pace with

As the Vice-President, Brother Daniel Bernian acts as the Dean of all Students. He is responsible to his executive for almost four thousand students, for the regulations governing them in the daily routine of college life, and for the administration of an adequate Personnel Program to minister student services. In the last few years, due to his encouragement and abilities, La Salle has seen the unprecedented development and expansion of new and improved facilities, and the growth of activities, curricular and extra-curricular, all of which directly contribute to the education which the student receives at La Salle.

Capable only hints at describing the men and women who assist the President and the Dean in the handling of the many affairs required in the administration of a large organization such as La Salle. For, as La Salle College has grown, and its facilities expanded, we have seen the development of new problems to be solved and new services to be administered. Without efficiency in the handling of these matters there could ultimately be no La Salle. Some of their jobs are big, some are small, but all are extremely important. For, all services are interdependent. When one fails, the entire organization is affected, and, consequently, the fullest development of a student's academic achievement is impaired. But, instead of falling backward, or only standing still, our administration is constantly developing new and better techniques for the systematic and effective handling of the finest of academic organizations.

They inspired our thinking

The Dean of the College is in charge of the instructional program, the purpose of La Salle. And the Deans of the specific schools are the chief executive officers of the academic organization of their school. Into the hands of these four men, falls the responsibility for the academic life and curriculum of each student, and ultimately, the scholastic success. For they are responsible for the organization of a scholastic program that will afford the student the finest opportunity for the success of a career . . . and a thankful alumni is too little tribute to their achievements.

Student Council

Between the student and the administration, at the behest of the latter, stands the Student Council. Here, the students present themselves to the administration, to the faculty, other institutions and associations, and the public in general, in an organized and articulate manner. On the campus, this group of student officers has risen to a position of influence that they have not held in some time. Devoted to the student body, they have kept the welfare of the students before them. With a junior, Jim McDonald, holding the reins this last year, student representation was put forth in a determined and resolute manner.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles listened glumly when asked for a review of U. S. Middle East policy.

Executive Board

The Executive Board, a branch of Student Council, is composed of the presidents of all the clubs on campus. The purpose of the organization is to give a voice in Student Government to these clubs. Under the presidency of Joe Sanquilli a comprehensive set of Rules-of-Procedure was drawn up which gained for it the respect of the Student Body previously lacking. The Board has surprised not a few with its success.

Guests of the annual Open House, sponsored by the Executive Board, show intense interest in the exhibit displayed by the R.O.T.C. department.

Friends and parents are conducted by Joe Maher, Joe Sanquilli, and Ron Gendaszek on their visit to the Benilde Club exhibit during Open House.

The Accounting Association gathers about Dave Campbell as the future agenda of club activities is laid out. Charlie Rueger has just performed a disappearing act with a fourteen column worksheet.

The Accounting Association has as its objective the encouragement for the art of debiting and crediting. Organized largely by and for the upper classmen, it sponsors many speakers throughout the year who enlighten the members on the opportunities for employment after graduation. The Association has backed such speakers as Messrs. Walsh and May of the Army Auditing Division, and Mr. Sullivan of the Internal Revenue Service. They also sponsor intra-club participation in discussion of Accounting problems. The club is under the mentorship of Mr. Walter Kaiser of the Accounting Department. Dave Campbell is the President.

Benilde Club

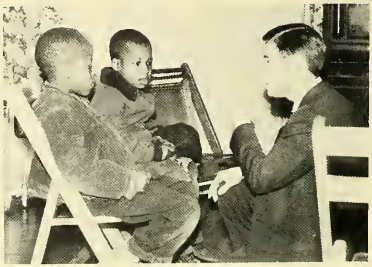
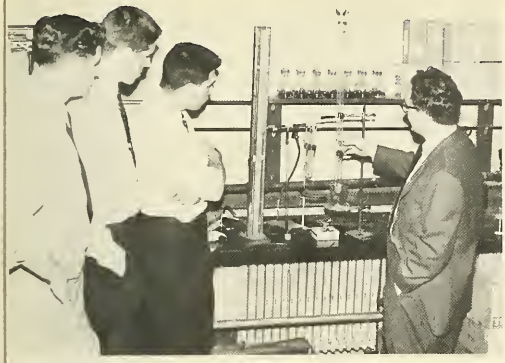
The Benilde Club, an organization for Catholic Action, extends its sway beyond the campus limits to outlying missions and centers with its catechetical workers. Catechetical classes are held at St. Simon's, Blessed Martin de Porres, and Stella Maris. This club worked in conjunction with the Mission Sisters engaged in teaching, caring for, and converting the Colored and Indians. Speakers, Masses offered for special occasions such as the Centennial of the Sacred Heart Doctrine, the Harvesters, and the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine were all part and parcel to the club's successful undertakings this past year.



Interest is focused on another member of La Salle's Benilde Club. Ronald Gendaszek explains to his catechists that there is only one God. Let's hope the commendable work of The Benilde Club continues.



Jack Fardy, Jim Hampson, Tony DiCecco listen intently as Dr. Max Barth explains an experiment in Physical Chemistry. Below, the students endeavor to do the experiment. Who won in the "Fifth" Tony?

In the spring of 1949, a group of twelve seniors, led by Louis P. Domingus, applied to the American Chemical Society for a charter to form a student affiliate chapter of that organization. For Intra-Collegiate purposes, this chapter is known as the Chymian Society. The society, which is restricted to Chemistry majors, acquaints the students with each other, secures the intellectual stimulation that arises from professional association, and fosters and instills a professional spirit and pride in Chemistry. Members of the society have made tours to the Franklin Institute, Smith, Kline and French, Wyeth Laboratories, watched technical films and heard guest speakers.

Economics Club

The Economics Club has for its purpose the furtherance of, interest in, and understanding of the theoretical and practical aspects of Economics. Emphasis is also laid on the importance of Catholic Social Philosophy in economic life. An active student participation in discussion of the problems of economics is encouraged. To increase interest, guest speakers are provided who lecture on economic problems past and present. The club moderator is Mr. Francis Nathans of the Economics Department.

Education Society

An active membership in the Education Society is granted to all students enrolled in the Education Program in the Upper Division. The purpose of the society is to promote constructive interest in teaching problems and to foster high ideals of professional ethics.

The society supplies professional development of its members through organized contacts with teachers.

Problems and aspects of important events of historical significance are the ideas around which the History Club is based. Its activities are of an academic and social nature. Included among these activities are radio discussions of a competitive nature, promotion of student interest in graduate field of study in history, club meetings held at members' homes on an informal basis, and an annual dinner. The club is moderated by Mr. Ugo Donini, Chairman of the History Department.

Industrial Relations Commission

The function of the Industrial Relations Commission, an affiliate of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, is to foster the research into problems of a science or an art. The problems are approached from all aspects whether they be legal, social, economic or moral. The Commission contributes delegates to the N.F.C.C.S. The club is under the moderatorship of Charles Halpin.

In a pre-election discussion opposing views were presented by the Honorable Hugh Scott (R) and James Pie (D), who is a La Salle alumnus. Student participation in the discussion period was enthusiastic.

Hammarskjold and Nasser: At stake was the U.N.'s role as peacemaker.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club was organized for the purpose of discussing problems and policies of an international nature. The club endeavors to develop independent and critical evaluation on the part of its members by frequent discussion, group meetings, and intercollegiate debates on international affairs. This year, in connection with the mock presidential election which it conducted, the IRC sponsored the first of its discussions between political experts. At its annual banquet, the club presents an award to the person who best exemplifies Christian principles in the field of international relations.

Members of the International Relations Club
First row: J. Maher, J. Burke, J. Galloway, V. Hoepfl, J. Sanquilli. Second row: P. Feledick, E. Morris, A. Randazzo, R. Dwyer, J. Gallagher. Third row: V. Konen, K. Jacobsen, J. Gavin, A. Durrant.

Society for the Advancement of Management

The Society for the Advancement of Management is the recognized national professional organization of management in industry, commerce, government, and education. In order to accomplish its objectives, it utilizes the following media: regular meetings, plant trips to Forms, Inc., Philadelphia Gas Works, Lee Tire Co., Quaker Sugar Co., Weber Box Co., and others; guest speakers, motion pictures, social affairs, an annual dinner and a student conference which is held in conjunction with other area colleges and universities.

Newtonian Society

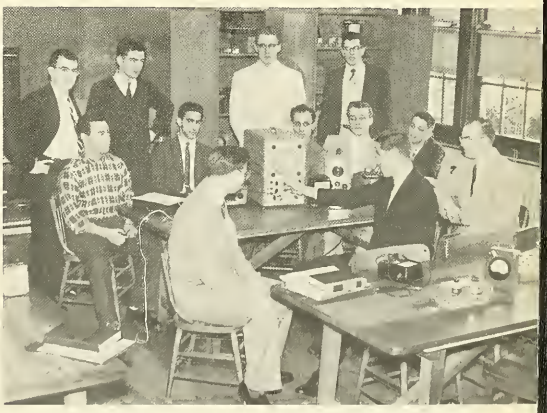
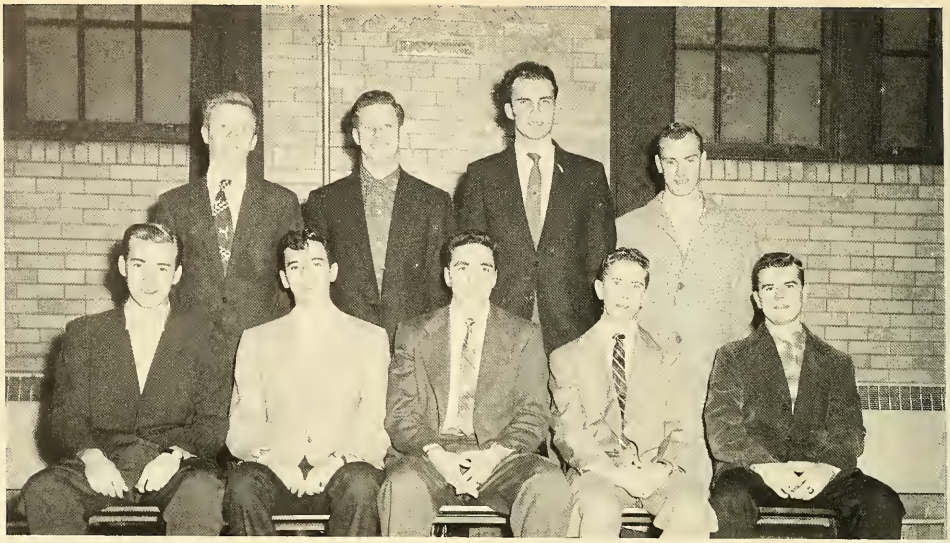
The purpose of the Newtonian Society is to promote interest in physics among the students of La Salle. The society presents moving pictures and lectures by members and guests. A field trip was taken to the laboratories of the Naval Air Development Center, Johnsville, Pennsylvania.

Along with the placement bureau, the club sponsors vocational interviews with government and industrial research organizations. Activities included presentation of a moving picture and lecturer from White Sands Proving Ground, and "The Story of Measurement", an exhibition and lecture produced by the DoAll Company, DesPlaines, Illinois.



Don't touch that dial! Four years of intensive instruction pays off for Jim Hampson as he gets to manipulate the oscilloscope. Tom Devlin concentrates on more distant matters.

Having read the Collegian, Joe Waltrich, Jim Hampson, Paul Bisbing, and Tom Devlin concentrate on plans for the club's exhibit during Open House.



Members of the Psychology Club
First row: R. Taylor, A. Lawless, J. Presto, W. LaPorte, J. Amon. Second row: W. Haugherty, J. Powers, T. Prendergast, F. King.

Psychology Club

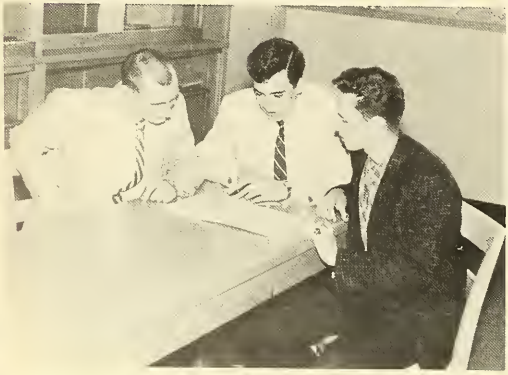
The function of the Psychology Club is the furtherance of Psychology by increasing its understanding on the part of the student. Its activities are both social and academic. A field trip to the Eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institute was undertaken this year. Faculty lectures and movies have also been promoted by the Psychology Club. An annual dance was given as the highlight of its social affairs. The tutelage of the club is in the hands of John Rooney, Ph.D., of the Psychology Department. Andrew Lawless, '58, is the Club president.

The President of the Psychology Club, Andy Lawless, is shown discussing future affairs with the other officers of the club, Jim Neithammer, Treasurer, and Frank King, Secretary.



Here, the President, Andy Lawless, and the Secretary, Frank King, are deciding the time and place of the coming film and speaker. The topic will be: Head-Shrinking, Self Taught.

Dorothy Day, noted pacifist, addresses the student body on the evils of war. Her noble attempt to win R.O.T.C. to her cause failed to crystallize.

In the orderly office of the Sociology Club, Bill Lamb, Tom Cunningham, Jim Dunphy, Tom Clemens receive from Mr. Connors a topic for a research paper. Topic was: Marriage in Zululand.

Sociology Club

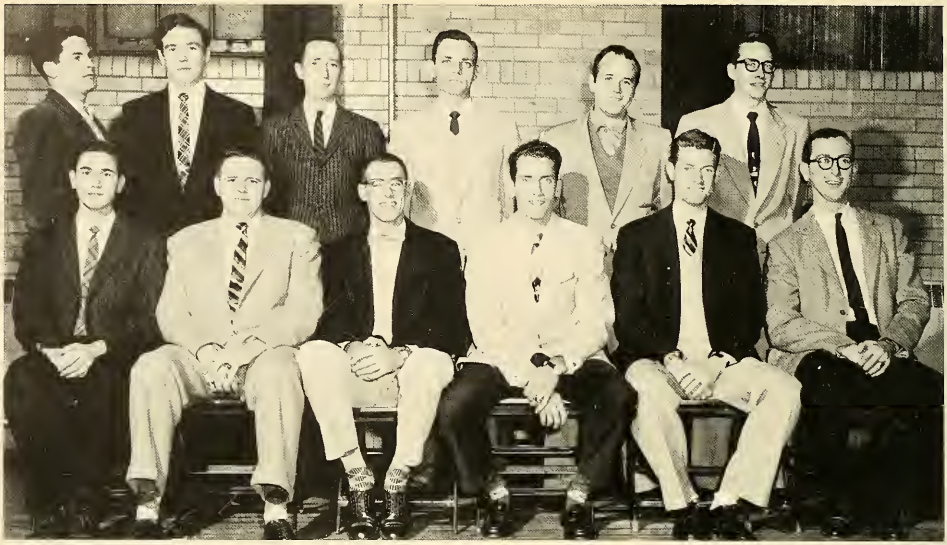
The purpose of the Sociology Club is to acquaint those who are majoring in Sociology with the practical aspects of this field and to put forward the opportunities for graduate study and placement after graduation. The club in order to stimulate interest has put forth an agenda of speakers, forums, career conferences and field trips. Notable among its alumni is Wsevolod Isajiw whose article on the sociological systems of Sorokin appeared in the American Catholic Sociological Review. The club is moderated by Mr. John Connors and its president is Tom Cunningham.

Members of the Sociology Club
First row: J. Scott, T. Cunningham, J. Connors, moderator; J. Dunphy, W. Lamb. Second row: C. Beitz, J. Callahan, J. Amen, O. Samons, T. Clemins, J. McCartin. Third row: R. Taylor, J. Reilly, T. Grimes, G. Micklesavage, E. Watzer.



Members of the Weber Society

Weber Society

The Herbert S. Weber Society attempts to stimulate every student's interest in the necessity of a liberal education by stressing the riches of literary endeavor. By using the informal home meeting the club breaks down the parliamentary classroom atmosphere and encourages liberal discussion. Guest speakers are also invited especially on the Alumni level. Joseph Coogan, a short story specialist, was among the notable alumni.

John F. McCullough, preparing a paper on Hemingway's delineation of women, to be delivered before the Weber Society at one of its evening meetings, browses through the library gathering reference material.

Discussing a future lecture to be given to the Weber Society are George T. McGivern, President, and John F. McCullough, Secretary-Treasurer.

Members of Le Cercle Claudel
First row: J. Mullin, E. O'Brien, A. Lawless, R. Simard.
Second row: C. Krijt, W. Eliason, A. Roney, E. Gaucher.

French Club

The French Club at La Salle, Le Cercle Claudel, is an organization devoted to the encouragement and dissemination of the French culture and language among its members and the student body in general. Its affairs are generally of the educational and social variety consisting of informal meetings and dances. The club is moderated by John Guishard, Ph.D.

Officers of the Pi Delta Phi: Ed O'Brien, Andy Chermak, Bill Murphy and Ron Gendaszek caught scheduling the monthly meetings of the club. This club is moderated by Dr. Boudreau.

Italian Club

J. Pettinio attempts to drive home his point during a meeting of the Italian Club. Looking on are R. Pitassi, R. Iannittoni, J. La Monaca, A. De Santis, R. Rosiejka (standing), with J. Coppola and D. Columbi sitting.

The Circole La Salliano, better known as the Italian Club, was founded to promote the art, music, literature and culture in general of Italy. Its aims are not strictly academic in nature, for it also sponsors stags and dances for its members. The club is moderated by Dr. Di Marco of the Modern Language Department.

Members of the Italian Club
First row: A. Di Santis, J. Pettinio, D. Colombi, A. Giampitro, A. Travagline, P. La Ruffa. Second row: L. Fortuna, A. Damore, P. Lo Proesti, P. Santella, W. Avangelisto, S. Vasso. Third row: J. Coppola, A. Ventresca, A. Pepino.

Members of the Spanish Club
First row: T. Dean, A. Feehan, T. Gallagher, Mr. J. Carrio, Moderator; J. Gallagher, P. Delaney, J. Flanagan. Second row: T. Hunt, N. Bernstein, G. Annunyiato, J. McAnneny, J. Cazzair, J. Dougherty, T. Donohue, S. Uprichard.

The Spanish Club at La Salle was organized in 1948 through the efforts of Senor Jose Miquel Carrio, Spanish professor at La Salle and present moderator of the club. It is under the patronship of St. Theresa of Avila. Various activities of this year included the Fall and Spring Socials, lectures by students and guests, motion picture films of Spain and Spanish speaking countries, and the New York trip.

A pressing matter of business seems to fully occupy the attention of J. Gallagher, T. Gallagher, Mr. Carrio, and Tom Dean. The point under consideration is: Who slipped the hot tamales in the refrigerator?

Spanish Club

Newly invested officers of Sigma Beta Kappa accept the symbols of their offices at the fraternity's Annual Dinner Dance. Officers received were: Treasurer, Bill Thomas; President, Bob Ganter; Vice-President, Joe Kriz; and Secretary, Joe Antal. On the right, carrying out their aim of Catholic Action, members of the fraternity receive the Blessed Sacrament before the Communion Breakfast.

Sigma Beta Kappa

Sigma Beta Kappa has a two fold end, social and religious. The latter includes activities at St. John's Orphanage, and a Communion Breakfast which featured John Facenda as the guest speaker. Social activities are divided into those which encourage general student participation such as the Mardi Gras and the Thanksgiving Dances, and those restricted to club membership such as socials and informal business meetings. Fraternity membership is chosen after a six weeks initiation period in which the pledges or "worms" are obliged to perform menial tasks. With its Annual Dinner Dance, which closes out its social year, the pledges who have been deemed worthy are accepted.

Members, Alumni, and guests enjoy themselves at the annual Mardi Gras Dance held at the Philadelphia Rifle Club. The Mardi Gras, a tremendous success as usual, is an indication of fraternity spirit.

Continuing in their policy of cooperating with school activities, Sigma Beta Kappa projects its actvities in a display for the Annual Open House. Their functions are social and religious.

Brothers and pledges of Sigma Beta Kappa sing the Fraternity song at annual Mardi Gras Dance after Bob Ganter presented Bro. Stanislaus, College President, with an appropriate gift acknowledging his Silver Jubilee.

Such sights as this, in which "Worms" perform menial tasks, are familiar to students during the hazing period. Shine, Worm, Shine.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega First row: J. Voss, J. Metz, A. Catalani, A. Dorley, J. Stathahis, H. Kielman. Second row: J. Kelley, R. Simard, M. Pilla, A. Randazzo, J. Gallo, S. LoGuidice, E. Langdon, M. Hayduk. Third row: J. Burke, J. Panczka, W. Lee, F. Marinaro, P. Santella, R. Ganter.

Alpha Phi Omega

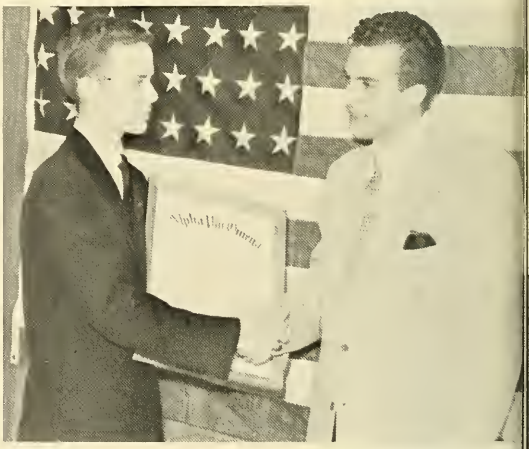
The largest National Fraternity in the United States is represented by a group of students at La Salle united for the sole purpose of serving. A selfless group that always found time to help others at the expense of their own convenience. Service to the student body and faculty, to youth and community; to help fellow members; to the nation are the objectives which they face.

Sincerity in purpose, and success in objective are the high qualifications which our fellow students met to become brothers in this organization. The Lambda Phi chapter is one which represents well Alpha Phi Omega. With a touch of comedy (assembling in the fellowship of the scout oath and laws) it ends in the fullness of dedication.



Tony Catalani congratulates Frank Mangan after the latter's acceptance of Alpha Phi Omega's presidency. It is the policy of the fraternity to elect a new president every six months. Both men during their terms have done an excellent job for the fraternity.

Responding to the piteous call from Hungary's persecuted masses, the Alpha Phi Omega sponsored "Operation Humanity". During it they exhorted the student body to contribute clothing. Shown here are four members of the student body reacting to the call. The drive was successful.

Kappa Mu Epsilon

Founded by mathematics majors on the undergraduate level, Kappa Mu Epsilon has a four fold purpose: to further the interest in mathematics, to help members realize its important functions in today's world, to aid him in appreciating math through its demands for rigorous and logical modes of thought, and to recognize his outstanding achievements in this field.

Being an honorary society there are certain prerequisites a student must fulfill to be admitted. He must be a Junior in the upper third of his class, with at least twenty-two hours of mathematics and maintain a minimum of 2.7 index. Upon fulfillment of these qualifications he is admitted to the Pennsylvania Chapter. Brother Jules Damian is the moderator.

Tom Devlin, Lou Kijewski and Don Risica listen intently during a discussion of the application of topology to electronic principles, prior to an actual demonstration.

Brother Damian, Moderator of Kappa Mu Epsilon, explains the conditions necessary for a closed group. Theory of Groups has found many applications in modern Physics.

Members of Kappa Mu Epsilon

Alpha Epsilon Delta

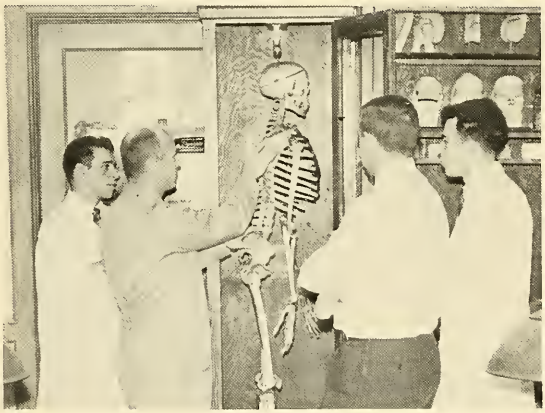
The aim of Alpha Epsilon Delta, an honorary premedical society, is to foster excellence in academic endeavor, stimulate interest in the importance of premedical education in the study of medicine, and promote cooperation between premedical educators and students. The organization was founded at La Salle in 1950 under the sponsorship of the Fabrician Society. In keeping with the aims of the society, Pennsylvania's Delta chapter sponsors, in conjunction with a local medical school, an Eastern Pennsylvania Premedical Conference. At this conference, premedical educators and students meet and discuss the different aspects of medical education.

Dick Monihan and Bob Cogan spend a few late hours in the chemistry lab trying to identify an "unknown." The job was not a hopeless task.



Dr. Penney explains to Phil Lo Presti, Bill Barry and Tony Damore the intricacies of the human scapula. That skeleton posed for the "before" in Charles Atlas' ads.

Gavel Society

First row: R. Connors, P. Walsh. Second row: V. Konen, F. Trzuscowski, E. Morris, K. Makowski, F. Gleeson, H. Bairsdorfer.

The Gavel Society was formed at La Salle College to promote inter-collegiate debating. The organization, which has a year-long schedule, entered many highly rated tournaments in the past year. Among them were the Barnard Tournament, District VII Championships, Duquesne University Tournament, and the N.F.C.C.S. Tournament, which were well distributed around the country. The debating team is divided into varsity and novice. The novices posted a difficult schedule featuring St. Joseph, Temple, Immaculata, Swarthmore and the University of Pennsylvania. The Gavel also sponsors intramural debates for the general participation of the student body. The Society is moderated by Mr. Charles V. Kelly of the English Department.

Joseph Hennessy demonstrates the place of rhetorical gesture in the art of debating. Hennessy, although only a Sophomore, proved a valuable asset this year.

Harry Bradley, Peter Walsh, Ron Connors discuss the proposed topic of a future debate. Resolved: That the Eskimos can support Major League baseball.

Glee Club

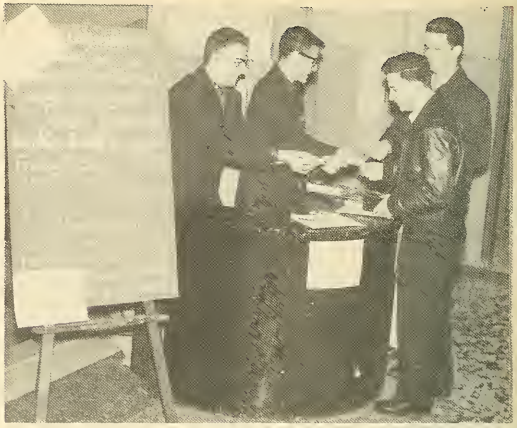
The Glee Club has as its purpose the encouragement of musical appreciation. Not only is it a musical group, but it also fosters the concept of fraternal spirit among its members. Besides its singing engagements, the Glee Club also sponsors an annual dance. A collaboration with neighboring colleges has proven to be of great value to the Glee Club. The organization is conducted by Father Sailor.



Jerry Annuziato and Art Roney sell tickets for the LaSalle Glee Club appearance at Town Hall on Friday, March 29, featuring the score of My Fair Lady.

Members of the Glee Club

Members of the Varsity Club
First row: G. Maketa, M. Sukalski, T. Devlin, V. Szymkowski, T. Loschiavo, J. Yambor, J. Rose, P. Kennedy. Second row: H. Darragh, R. Morro, E. Filiben, J. Galloway, J. Ambrogi, F. McCloskey, K. Jacobsen, D. Sharp. Third row: J. Heffernan, J. Garvin, W. Fynes, J. McCauley, D. Zelinski, E. Higgins, A. Lewis, E. Gash, W. Fredricks.

The purpose of the Varsity Club is the organization of the lettermen in a society to advance and improve varsity and intramural athletics, to stimulate the student interest, and to support, by way of pep-rallies and motorcades, the athletic teams in their endeavors. To be a member, a player or manager must have earned a Varsity "L". The club also sponsors Varsity Week, and stags, which play a key part in increasing interest.

Varsity Club

The committees of Varsity Week, The Varsity Drag, and the picnic meet to discuss these affairs. Even though this was an important meeting you could never tell by looking at Bill Fynes who is getting some much needed sleep.

Collegian

The La Salle College Collegian aids those men interested in journalism by providing them with a workshop, and also disseminates to the student body in general the views and news of the institution, its faculty and its students. It is a weekly publication. The writing body is distributed throughout the four classes, but the editor-in-chief is a senior. Each year, at its staff banquet, the Collegian gives an award for "Public Service in Journalism". This year it was given to Richard W. Slocum, Executive Vice-President of the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Editors of the Collegian staff mull over the newly completed handbook. They are Mike Hayduk, John P. Gall and Richard Coulson, compiler of the handbook.

Jack McDevitt, author of Down The Line, interviews swimming star Joe Lavin on why there won't be any Metropolitan Swimming Championships this year.

Brother Daniel Bernian presents a Collegian Key to Richard Coulson at the Annual Collegian Banquet held between semesters. President of La Salle College, Brother E. Stanislaus, Mr. Robert Slocum, recipient of the Collegian Award, Norbert Moser and John Gall look on.

Sports Editor Frank Mangan puts the finishing touches on something other than sports copy on a Monday night after the more hearty souls have departed.

Every Wednesday afternoon, the Collegian comes out on the Campus. Here shown are the students who have just received their copy. Besides the feature stories, the Collegian is the source of many controversial editorials which greatly stir student interest, especially those which are carried out in a serialized form.

The Explorer

It took 60 men to produce this book and the story of their struggles could be the basis for a modern comedy. The bulk of the actual work on the book was done by Bowen who drove his men with an iron hand.

Credit must be given to: John Galloway, Business Manager, who struck bargains and worried about the funds; Vito Canuso, Business Manager, who kept the Bursar busy; the Business staff, Tony D'Amore (subscriptions), Louis Giorno (patrons), John P. Gall (publicity), Mike Dybicz (promotion), Jim McDonald (circulation); and to men who had the burden of visualizing, organizing and producing the sections: Joe McCauley (activities), Ralph Nuss (faculty), Bill Fynes (sports), Bob Romano (seniors). Joe Maher, copy editor; Mike Hayduk, photographer, and Walt Eliason, his assistant, round out the crew.

Special thanks go to Brother Clementian whose advice was always welcome if not always followed. It is my sincere hope that those men who worked very hard on this book and got little credit will know that they have my sincere thanks. Art Simmons

The Masque

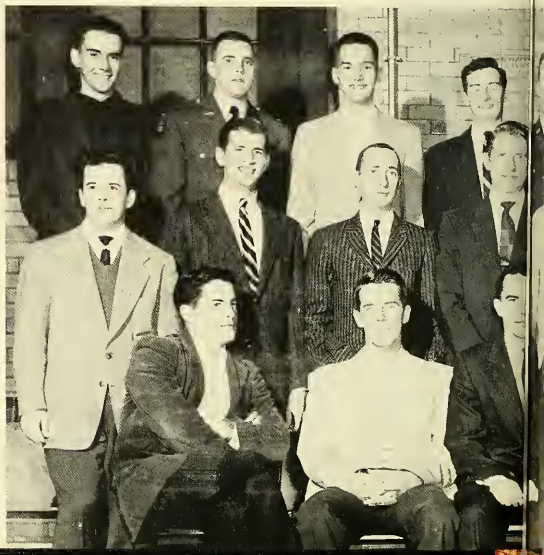
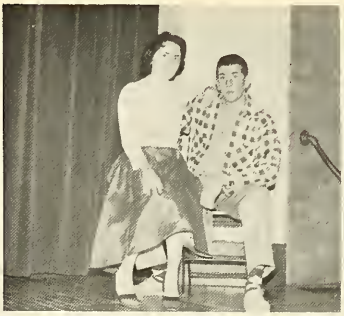
The Masque, La Salle's dramatics club, is particularly proud of its reputation as one of the most active and successful extra-curricular organizations on the college campus. Under the direction of its faculty moderator, Mr. Dan Rodden, a member of the Department of English, The Masque's audiences have been growing larger for each successive production. This years fall production, The Devil's Disciple, by George Bernard Shaw, outdrew last year's very successful Caine Mutiny Court Martial. That Oaklahoma, the spring production, was confidently expected to break the record set in 1956 by South Pacific, was clearly indicated when Ed Stein, '57, president of The Masque, announced a precedent making six night run for the Pulizer Prize winning musical.

Masque business affairs and policy are determined by its Board of Governors and the Officers of the group, all of whom are elected by the membership.

The Masque produces one show each semester. The first production of the Masque's 1956-57 season was G. B. Shaw's "Devil's Disciple." H. de Luca (Vice-President) and Miss Handfield were "on the side of the angels" as the Parson Anderson and his wife Judith.





Four days a week during February-May, you could catch Ado Annie (Grace Slavin) and Will Parker (Clem Feeney) rehearsing their scene from "Oklahoma."

While Will and Annie settled their romantic problems, Curley (Dave Shannon) was trying to simplify his love life by suggesting that Jud (Jim McCrane) kill himself as they sang "Pore Jud is Daid."

As with any show, the Masque's work on the production of "Oklahoma" started long before the performance with auditions. Late in February, Miss Handfield (performance coach), Mr. Dan Rodden (director), Ed Stein (President) and R. Cavanaugh (Secretary) started listening to more than 120 hopeful singers and actors.

Caisson Club

The Caisson Club, an organization sponsored by the Reserve Officers training Corps, has for its purposes the maintainance of a high standard of military education and the encouragement of essential qualities necessary for a good, efficient officer. The club sponsors the annual Military Ball and other social and business functions for the members of the R.O.T.C.

The highlight of the pre-Christmas season is the annual Military Ball, sponsored by the La Salle Caisson Club. This affair, which always draws a large crowd, helps to support the other activities of the Club.

R. O. T. C.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps at La Salle has as its function the production of officers for the Organized Reserve. During the first two years the R.O.T.C. is compulsory to all able bodied, non-veteran students. The last two years are voluntary but acceptance into the Advanced Course depends upon a selective process of physical and mental examinations. Six weeks at Fort Sill, for artillery training is required between a candidate's Junior and Senior years. Upon graduation the cadet receives a Second Lieutenants' Commission in the Organized Reserve.

Beside its regular cadet functions the R.O.T.C. also sponsors the Caisson Club, the Drill Team and the R.O.T.C. Band. All of these functions can be participated in by basic as well as advanced Cadets.

ROTC training is one of the major sources of officer material in the army. The men who conduct these courses play an important part in the defense of our country.

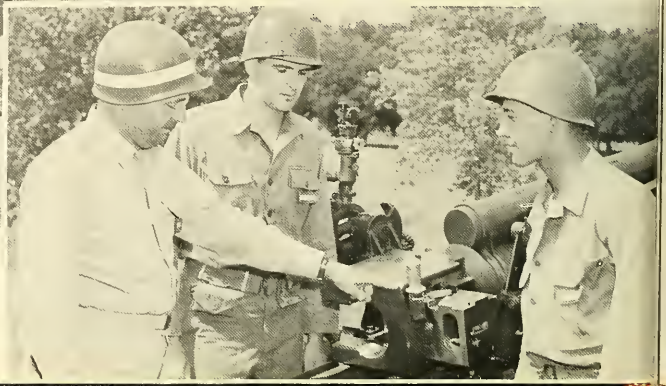
Distinguished military students salute the inspecting team before receiving their medals of achievement at the Annual Review. Because of the intense interest of the students and their counterparts in previous years, LaSalle's ROTC has obtained records of excellence and displays every indication of continuing to do so.

Dress right, dress!! Senior officers, Harold Davis, Jack Berner, Gerry Kneipp, Lou Gartz, and Tom Shanley, ready themselves for inspection during the ROTC Annual Review. No demerits here, but there will be in the background.

Communications is an important part of Artillery as Ed Reading, Len Tully, and Lou Gartz learn. Here the three R.O.T.C. men lay wire from the back of a truck. This is only one facet of many which prospective officers are required to know.

Chick Beitz, Bob Romano and Gabe Pascuzzi are pictured using a Stadia Pole white on a field problem at Fort Sill. Advanced R.O.T.C. students are required to attend summer camp between their Junior and Senior years.

Major Rice, Artillery Instructor, shows Tom Shanley and Hal Davis the intricacies of the 105 mm Howitzer. A thorough knowledge of the 105 mm is an absolute necessity for these aspiring Artillery officers.



The band and drill team beside their Corps' functions also participate in outside affairs and competition. The drill team maintains a schedule of intercollegiate drill matches with area Colleges.

The Band which led the St. Patrick's Day Parade, also plays at the Spring Military Review and the St. Barbara's Day Parade.

The Corps' public appearances as a body consist of the Spring Military Review during which officers from the Second Army come to La Salle to appraise the achievements of the unit. It is open to the families of the Cadets and to the public. On December 4, the R.O.T.C. celebrates the feast of its patron, St. Barbara, with a parade to Holy Child Church. Once there, a Mass is offered in her honor.

The white-helmeted R.O.T.C. band members step out at the annual Spring Review. In command is Cadet Officer Robert Romano, who is a four-year member of the band.

The occasion of St. Barbara's Feast Day is marked by a parade to Holy Child Church where Mass is held.

The R.O.T.C. drill team practices for the Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade, which it had the honor of leading.

Hank Darragh and John Burke discuss the equipment situation in the training room. Hank is the manager of the basketball team while John is the manager of the crew.

Hank and John are shown here reviewing a newspaper report of a basketball game. The managers are as much an integral part of the teams as the playcrs.

Praefectus Club

Larry Borger and Gerry Hofmann discuss a recent meet in which La Salle swimmers were the victors. Larry was the manager of the M.A.C. swimming champions.

The purpose of the Praefectus Club is to bring recognition to the men who serve the college as student managers and to raise the efficiency of the student managers to as high a degree as is possible through the mutual exchange of ideas.

Membership is restricted to the members of the Junior and Senior Classes, who have spent one year in active apprenticeships. Each member receives a Blue Blazer coat with club emblem, from the moderator, James Henry, Director of Athletics.

Junior Week

Benny Bengough receives a trophy for his tremendous soft ball heave. His total distance, 2' 5".

Miss Joanne Sturz, guest of Bill Comer, and Miss Jean Cogan, guest of Bob Ganter, seem to be having a fine time at the Junior Prom.

Bernie Rinehardt unwinds to release a soft ball during the Junior Week Track Meet. Bernie was nosed out by baseballer Benny Bengough.

A sound which has for some time now been lost to the ears of La Salle students is the clanging rumblings of the No. 26 streetcar. The trolley line which has been replaced by buses is a memory. Here the last trolley to make the run is photographed from the front of the Library.

The Campus Store, the general emporium of La Salle College, is the scene of some price haggling between Don Mundt and Joe McCauley behind the counter, and "Cholly" McGee and Andy Lawless in front.

Fred Latchet sets the alarm to awake all the midday snoozers at the change of class. Fred also administers the lost and found department, as well as supplying ties for those who have to go to the Vice President's Office.

"Let's get that boy on the team," says Jim Pollard as he looks approvingly at Ernie Gash's shot falling through the hoop. This year's annual farce was won by the underdog Senior Class, 23-22.

"Mahlzeit!" or "Come and get it" was the exclamation that started the stampede at this affair. "Looks good, too," said the expression on Art Roney's face as he dug in.

Good food, a German's delight, is the topic of this discussion. Bernie Blumenthal looks real interested. See that golden nogen on the table. Guess what's in it. Deutsches Bier? Naturlich!

Recently revived and already recognized as one of the most influencial organizations on campus, the German Club, through its monthly meetings, activities, and projects, brings to life the customs and traditions of the German speaking peoples. Outstanding events this year included a Christmas Party, a Fruehline Fest, and an extraordinarily successful German Cultural Program. Exchange letters, securing subscriptions to German Newspapers, obtaining scholarship information for German students are some of the many worthwhile projects of the club.

Ed Suez (center) and Tom Smith (by window) seem more engrossed in the arms of Morpheus than in the principles of Marketing. The lecture is given by Mr. Swoyer.

The fostering of an interest in Marketing and the promotion of high ethical standards within the field are the central themes around which the Marketing Association is built. Beside its business side which included speakers and forums, the organization also has an Annual Dinner to encourage friendship within its ranks. The club is moderated by Mr. George Swoyer, chairman of the Marketing Department, while the presidental reins are in the hands of Bill Donahue.

During our four years here at La Salle the Student Brothers have been an integral part of our curricular activities. However, it has been very seldom that they have joined us in our extra-curricular employments. This absence might lead one to believe that their life was one composed entirely of prayer and study. This is not the case at all. It is true that a Brother's life revolves around the chapel and the study hall, but many hours are purposely set aside each week for other activities. These activities are as varied as they are numerous. Some are individual such as ceramics, painting, and wood carving. Others require the cooperation of a large group.

A college education requires a great deal of study. For this reason the Brother's study hall is one of the most popular rooms in the house. Here every evening the Brothers gather to prepare for the next day's classes.

The Anselm Hall Glee Club, under the direction of Brother Edmund Pius, is shown giving a concert to the Dominican Sisters at Our Lady of Prouille Retreat House. The occasional concerts which the Brothers give are unanimously considered highlights of the Glee Club's activities.

The various seasons of the year provide different outlets for the Student Brother's need for recreation. During the summer months the swimming pool is always crowded. When winter freezes over the pond the Brothers exchange swim trunks for warmer clothing, and with skates on their feet set their minds on figure eight's.

Brothers' Activities

Ceramics is an absorbing interest for many of the Brothers. Besides offering a means of recreation, it is helpful for expressing initiative and fostering artistic inclinations. It is also a profitable way these Brothers serve the entire community by popularizing a new name in American Ceramics — "Christian Brothers Ceramics."

The hit number of the Gilbert and Sullivan section of last year's Spring Revue was "Here's A Howdy Do," which was rendered by Brothers Bernardine, Ronald and Richard in authentic Chinese costumes.

Among the latter the principle ones are: sports, dramatics, and music. The sports program includes organized leagues in football, basketball, and softball. The dramatic club presents two or three full length shows each year. They also arrange variety shows in which most of the Brothers take part. The music department consists of two bands and a twenty-five voice glee club, which not only entertains the Brothers but also makes guest appearances at such places as St. Joseph's Hospital and The Dominican Retreat House. Through these various activities the abilities and interests of all the Brothers find an outlet.

The Brothers' production of "Guys and Dolls" opened with the title song sung by Brothers Ronald and Richard and the chorus. This revue, the first of its kind for the Brothers, was very successful.

"I've got the horse right here," is a fugue for tinhorns, concerning three racetrack characters, each of whom is sure that his horse is going to win. Brothers Thomas, Richard, and Christopher made excellent bookies.

The String Band gets together for an informal session on the sun deck at Ocean Rest. These sessions are usually planned as an hour's practice, but once the musicians are at it, they generally spend the whole of a morning or afternoon combining melody-making and sun.

Nothing can surpass the excellence of a few sets of volley ball as a preparation for bucking the waves. The beach is a convenient court, and with the teams as large as ten and up, the games get as active as Olympic matches.

The most popular pastime of the Brothers during their two-week vacation at Ocean City is bathing in the surf. Here Brothers Bernardine, Edmund, Leonard and Raymond soak themselves in the September sun and surf.

While attending LaSalle in the Evening

. . . we have directed our efforts in the Fields of Business, Chemistry, and Electronic Physics. We also have had the opportunity of broadening our cultural and social interests. Our responsibility to our fellow men has been given a deeper meaning. The purpose of life has been made clear to us.

We are greatly indebted to a devoted Faculty which has given so much time and effort on our behalf.

The picture on the left finds Brother G. Paul, Dean of the Evening Division, and his assistant, Mr. Charles Perkins, discussing a proposed announcement to the Evening Division Students.
We shall always remember with appreciation the counsel and advice that we received from Brother Paul and his staff.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS SOCIETY

In the past year, with Mr. Halpin as Faculty Moderator and George Altmeier, '57, President, the Industrial Relations Society kept abreast of the new ideas and problems in Industrial Relations. The Society devoted most of its meetings to guest speakers of Management and Labor who were experts in their field.

A combined meeting of the Industrial Relations Society and the Society for the Advancement of Management listen to a panel of Management and Labor representatives debate on the Guaranteed Annual Wage.

SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

Pictured here are members of the Society for the Advancement of Management. Under the guidance of Mr. George Fellmeth, Faculty Moderator, and Al Barringer, President, this organization completed one of its most successful years. In addition to the many plant tours of large industrial organizations, the society had many management experts speak at the monthly meetings. The society's social season was highlighted by the annual dinner which was attended by all the members.

THE MARKETING ASSOCIATION

The primary purpose of the Marketing Association is to give the students who are interested in this field an opportunity to acquire first-hand knowledge of the trends in Sales, Advertising and Marketing Research techniques. The association's President, Bill Trenwith, '57, in the last year invited many experts in the Sales Promotion field to discuss their activities with the members of his association.

Bill Trenwith, President of the Marketing Association, addresses the members of the association.

THE ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION

Created to keep the students in touch with the old and new principles of Accounting, the association this year carried out that purpose by inviting various experts in Cost, Public, and Government Accounting to address the association. Mr. Joseph Markman, Faculty Moderator, kept the students abreast of the opportunities available in Accounting. The association's social activity was highlighted by the Annual Dinner Dance held for the members and their escorts.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

One of the newer organizations on the campus, the Science Club in the past year grew both in membership and activity. Composed of Physics and Chemistry majors, the club had many informative talks from speakers in the fields of Chemistry and Physics. Motion picture films on experimentation were shown, and literature was made available to the men in order that they would be more fully aware of research within the Physics and Chemistry industry.

MALVERN RETREAT

As in past years, Evening Division Students put aside their work and studies and spent a weekend at Malvern. Held in the latter part of January, the rereat gave the students time to reflect on the past year and place their spiritual lives in the right direction.

Senior Stag Nite

Halligan seems to be guilty of chicanery, at least from the expressions registered.

The purpose of the Senior Stag Night is an evening devoted to fun, and this year the senior class fulfilled that intention wholeheartedly. The principle attraction seemed to be the card games, during which many a classroom experience was recalled.

Fall Frolic

This picture leaves no doubt that a good time was had by all as these couples enjoy the dancing and music.

Chairman of the Fall Frolic Dance Committee, Bill Hollister, stands by the microphone ready to announce the lucky number for the door prize.

The Fall Frolic Dance is sponsored by the Student Congress for the purpose of giving new and old students a chance to get acquainted with one another, and it enables the new freshmen to see what a good social program that the Evening Division has for its students.

Some of the couples sit this dance out and watch the more energetic do a new dance step.

Winter Dance

On January 18, 1957, the Bellevue Stratford Hotel was the scene of the Evening Division's Eighth Annual Winter Dance. This dance was the highlight of the social events for the fall term. This years dance was the most successful affair of its kind held by the Evening Division. Three hundred happy couples danced to the music of Dave Stephens and his orchestra until the small hours of the morning. It was a night that will be long remembered as a wonderful time.

Jim Smith, Chairman of the Winter Dance, (center) and members of his committee are all smiles after witnessing the success of the dance.

The couples at this table were a typical representation of the congeniality and friendship that prevailed at the Evening Divison social affairs.

Communion Breakfast

On April 7, 1957, students and faculty members participated in the Evening Division's Communion Breakfast. The breakfast, which was preceeded by Mass and Communion in the school auditorium, was held in the college gym. Father Heath, College Chaplain was the celebrant of the Mass. Mr. Lawrence Bowman of the Faculty acted as toastmaster at the Breakfast. The guest speaker was Father Dennis J. Comey, S.J., of St. Joseph College.

Mr. James J. Henry, Director of Athletics

Director of Athletics

The Director of Athletics at LaSalle College for the past 22 years has been Mr. James J. Henry. This position is one he fills capably in addition to that of teacher. The Director of Athletics holds a most responsible position, and Mr. Henry has realized the implications of such a post because of his past experience as coach of various athletic teams. Under his direction LaSalle has risen to a position of athletic prominence because of his careful management and intelligent foresight.

Coaches

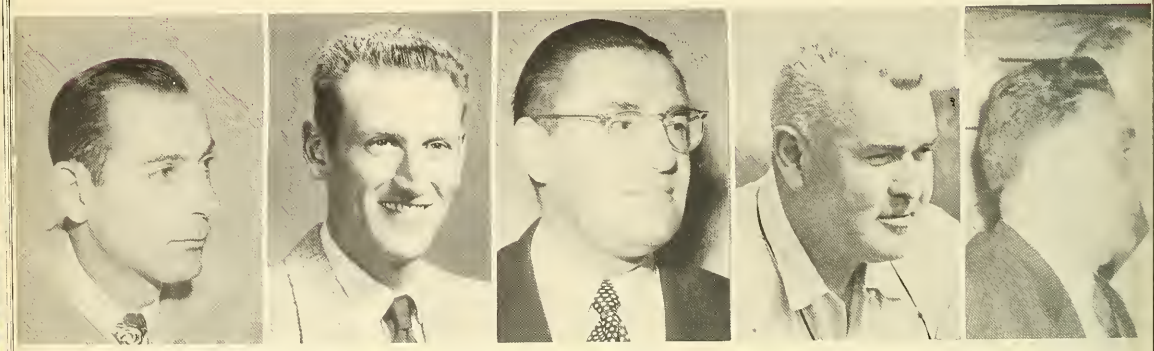
Sports at La Salle College in the 1956-57 season occupied a large part of student activities. The Administration has long recognized the value of team competition and the benefits that can be gained for the competing students, the rest of the student body, and the school name. It is generally the well-rounded student that does well in both studies and athletics that gets the major rewards from college life. This section is dedicated to those that have participated in athletics at La Salle College and to the students that have supported them.



The rewards of the season belong to coaches Wetzler, Pollard, Kirk, and Curran. These men have brought the championships and winning teams to La Salle in our final season. Trainer John Smith was always on hand to attend to the needs of the athletes.

Basketball

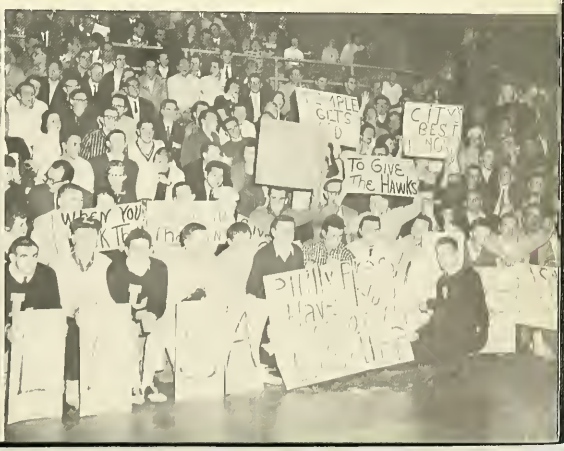
Although not boasting the records of old the 1956-57 cage team did themselves well with a record of 17-9. It was Jim Pollard's second year of coaching, it was the year of the fast start, the year of the dreaded slow down, and the year of the winning finish. It wasn't until the last three weeks of the season that the team came into its own, but when they did they were the unchallenged champs hereabouts. Finding winning form in the Temple game the Explorers then sprung to a seven game win streak to close out the campaign. Senior stars Wally Fredricks and Al Lewis did much in the way of lending success to the season. With Wally showing the way off the boards with 226 rebounds, and Al Lewis leading the club with a 17.2 scoring average these men can well be placed alongside the stars of days gone by. Undergraduates who lent a more than adequate hand to the goings on at the Palestra and elsewhere included Tom Garberina, who hit for better than 50 per cent of his field goal attempts; Ed Givinish, who was outstanding in his appearances before he fractured his arm; and Charles Eltringham whose hustle provided the spark for many victories.

Two examples of the school spirit engendered by La Salle's hustling basketball team are the Explorer and the window space given by the campus bookstore to honor the team. Junior Tom Beckett was seen at the City Series games as the Fighting Explorer.

The La Salle fans question the ability of the New York sports writers in selecting the Philadelphia representative for the N. I. T. The signs created quite a stir at the Palestra on the night of the Villanova City Series game. La Salle received the chance to play St. Joseph's and avenge their loss as a result of the stir.



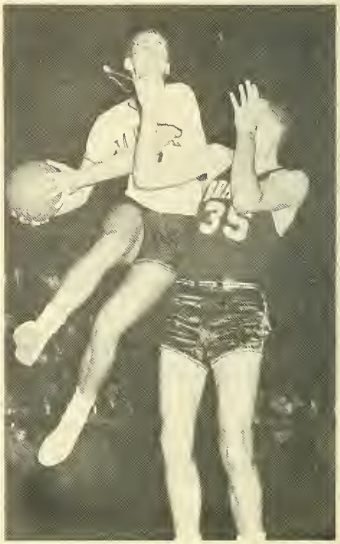
Prior to the opening of the basketball season the local sports writers dismissed La Salle as a team with some potential and little color. They said the team lacked both experience and leadership. This situation called for two remedies: one was a coach who possessed the ability of drawing that extra something from his players which is the difference between victory and defeat; the other was the type of personnel who were willing to give unselfishly of themselves and to the team.

As we all know, the result was the most spirited Explorer team in years and one of which the entire college is justly proud.

Charlie Eltringham and Bill Katheder have the situation well in hand in the 61-53 win over a scrappy Millersville five.

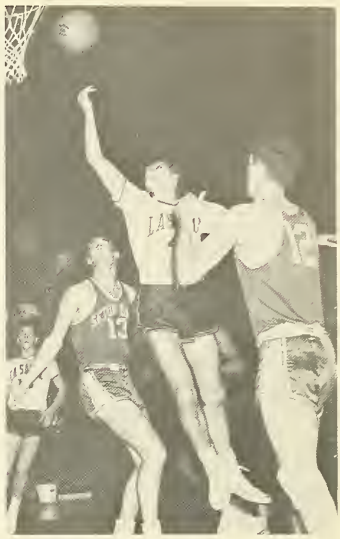
In what was probably the best game of his career, Wally Fredricks takes a rebound in the 83-78 victory over North Carolina State.

Flying high in the well deserved 87-77 victory over the Bradley Braves, Ed Givnish shows the way with two points.



Bill Katheder stretches high above the field for one of his patented jump shots in the 74-58 loss to Cincinnati.

The Explorers faced St. Joe's twice during the campaign. While the first game is best forgotten, Tom Garberina made room for victory in the second.



A real hustler in a substitute role during the season Bill Lavery shows all-out effort in the 82-72 topping of Seton Hall.

Bob Keuhn (16) and John Brady get a lesson in technique as Alonzo Lewis hooks it up in the Fordham rout. This was two of the Darby Leaper's 31, and kept the Explorers rolling in the midst of a seven game winning streak. Final count on this one was 84-66.

When the battered Explorers lost their sixth game in eight starts to Seton Hall at the Palestra on the second Saturday of February everybody hollered collapse and the white towels went up all over the place. The squad was hurting and Alonzo Lewis was sitting on the bench, and the Temple Owls were next in line to jump on the tall La Salles.

But this time Goliath had the slingshot. The former Darby High star got up and came in shooting, matched the great Guy Rodgers play for play, and guided his team into a winning streak that was still alive when he put his sneakers and trunks away for the last time.

Wally Fredricks displays the range that made him La Salle's top banana off the boards. Here, teammate Bill McGonigal watches as Wally puts it to Muhlenberg, picking off one of his 226 rebounds.

These Explorers were a team of shooters. They outfired opposition 4.16 to 3.62. But, had it not been for Wally Fredricks, the advantage so gained might have been cancelled; enemy clubs would have all but taken the backboards down and carried them home.

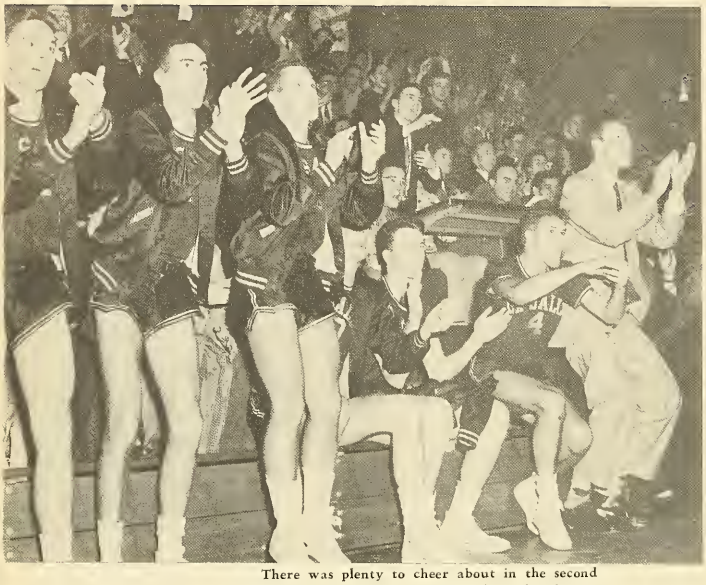
Wally was the guy they looked to when it got tough underneath. The victory over the giants of North Carolina State was his, and his work in the Orange Bowl Tournament shook the ivy in Miami's sun-tanned towers.

He took over for Ed Givnish in a losing cause, and teamed up with Lewis to hold off the early stages of the Hawks' rush. St. Joe's was unable to move until both were hustled to the bench with five personals.

These Explorers were shooters, but Wally showed the way.

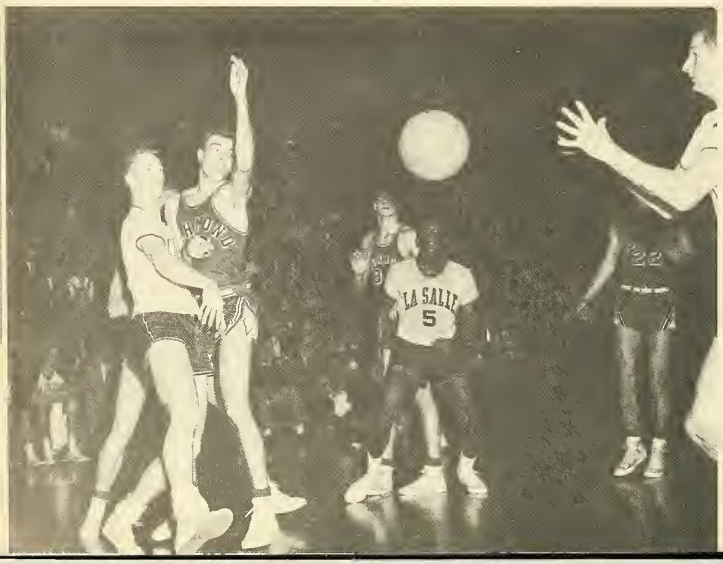
There was more than a victory celebration following the upset win over the Temple Owls. During the game Al Lewis scored his 1000 point as an Explorer. He thus became the fifth player in La Salle history to do so. Al sparked the Pollardmen to the 63-61 comeback triumph over the Owls with a contribution of 26 points.

The hustle was there in the Cincinnati game but the shots just didn't seem to find the range. Here Charlie Eltringham does battle with Cincy's Charlie Dierking and Tom Hood, in the losing, 74-58, cause.



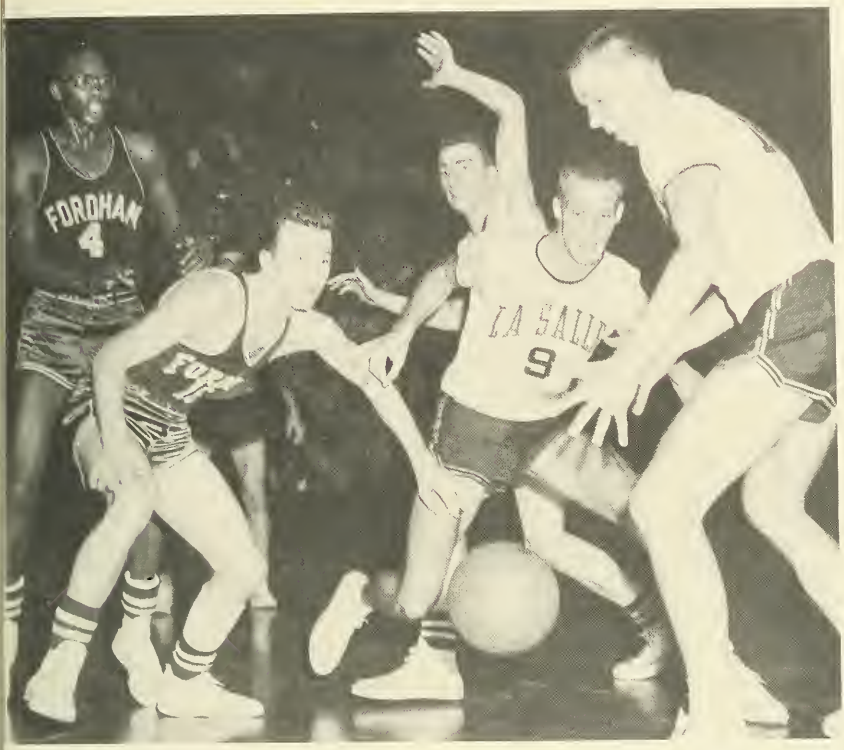
There was plenty to cheer about in the second St. Joseph's game, and the Explorer bench was right with it. Jack Rowan, Don Cunningham, Buddy Kline, Bill McGonigal, Bill Lavery, and Coach Pollard let it be known that they like what they see.

The most impressive triumph in the early part of the season was the 81-72 win over Manhattan. Al Ferner and Co. hit for 49 percent of their shots while holding the Jaspers to their season's low of 34 percent.

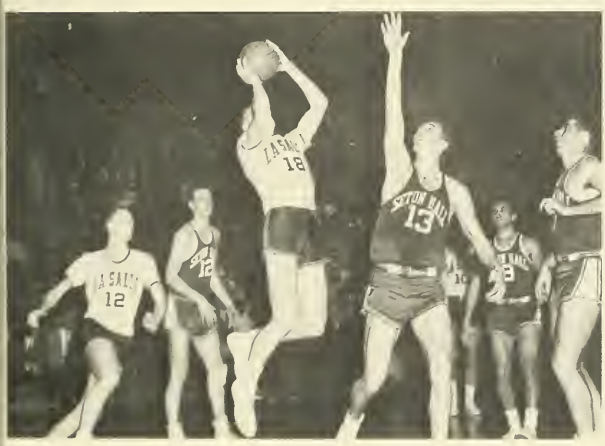


At first glance it would appear as if there is a loose ball in the air. However, it was only a pass from Al Ferner to Bill Katheder. The Richmond team also fell to the short end of the 60-52 score.

During the season the Pollardmen ran into Seton Hall twice. On the first occasion, in the successful swing to Florida during the Christmas holidays, the Explorers prevailed, 82-72. The Pirates took the second contest, 70-61.



In the upper photo is an illustration of the rough and tumble action which dominated in the 84-66 romp over Fordham. This action shows the Rams' Bill McCadney and Mike Cashman scrambling with Wally Fredricks and Pud Eltringham. To the right, Al Ferner takes a shot in the 87-80 triumph over Duquesne. This victory was the second in a string of seven at the end of the year.



Villanova's J. Kelly just doesn't give a hoot anymore, and Kenny Harrison runs the wrong way as Bill Katheder fires in two more. Bones' operations ran the 'Cats up a tree, and hustled the Explorers through their regular season finale into a first place tie.

Black Wednesday at the Palestra and Ed Givnish's last play. The Big Guy goes up fast and comes down hard on that extended left arm. Dan Dougherty is the obstacle, and ref Johnny Stevens counts the Explorers out. The Hawks rallied to win, 97-85, in overtime.

St. Joseph's came off the ropes and clobbered the Explorers one cold evening in January, and it was a devastating blow. It left Tommy Garberina writhing with a set of lacerated ribs, and Ed Givnish never got off the floor.

Three-wheeled prophets smiled a little grimly and pointed to pre-season predictions. It had to be a fight between Temple and the Hawks. But Pollard's People staggered past a notoriously inept band of Quakers, picked up the pieces and hit the Owls over the head with them. That was the night Al Ferner walked on stage, and Al Lewis became the fifth all-time Explorer to tally 1000 points.

The Explorers moved against Villanova like a barrel going downhill, with Bill Katheder tacking a 75-61 count on the scoreboard. That tied the City Series into a three way unbreakable headlock.

Alonzo Lewis and Wally Fredricks closed out their careers on Good Will Night with plenty of help from Pud Eltringham. They beat St. Joe's in an exhibition game. It was a little late.

Bill Lavery does some levitation for a crowd of interested lookers-on, including Penn's Mangan (19) and Kelso (7), Alonzo Lewis (far left) and Al Ferner. The Quakers went down, 84-73, endowing the La Salles with their first City Series victory.

Kurt Engelbert tries to pull down Al Ferner, who sails neatly through in the second St. Joseph's game. Al Juliana watches. Ferner missed the shot, but followed it up himself. The Explorers won, 61-57.

Charley Eltringham takes it off the Owls. Temple people are Bird, Rodgers, and Franklin, and the worried look on Ohie's face got a lot worse. Pud added 17 rebounds to this one, chucked in 13 points.

The phenomenal freshmen caused tongues to wag when they rode roughshod over the opposition 14 times in 15 games. Their only loss was to Muhlenberg, but vengeance was quickly achieved in a return game with an impressive victory.

Frosh Basketball

A hard earned basket for gritty Hugh Brolly. This goal was only one of the many sunk by the fledgling Explorers in resounding atonement for previous embarrassment caused by the Mules.

Freshman basketball is an important instrument to every school that wishes to maintain a respectable position during future intercollegiate competition. And it is with pride that we salute the La Salle College Freshman Basketball team this year. Because they have shown rather convincingly that they possess the ability to carry the Blue and Gold colors to much future glory and recognition. Under the level-headed tutelage of Frank "Wacky" O'Hara, the yearling basketeers have matured and gained poise during the past season in an admirable fashion.

Bob Alden sinks an easy "duck" against Millersville. Bob's maneuverability around the basket enables him to spring loose for many such goals. Another Frosh ace, Ralph Bantavoglio, gets set for a possible rebound.

Soccer

". . . It's not whether you win or lose, but how you played the game." These words of the sports sage, Grantland Rice, are quite fitting for La Salle's soccer team. The Blue and Gold booters didn't do much winning, but they did a heap of good playing. Plagued in pre-season training by bad weather and hampered during the season by injuries, the squad met such noteworthy opponents as West Chester, Temple, Lafayette and Haverford. Time after time Joe Smith's charges took the field as the underdog, but never waivered. Looking back on the season there are no bitter grapes, just a "better luck next time."

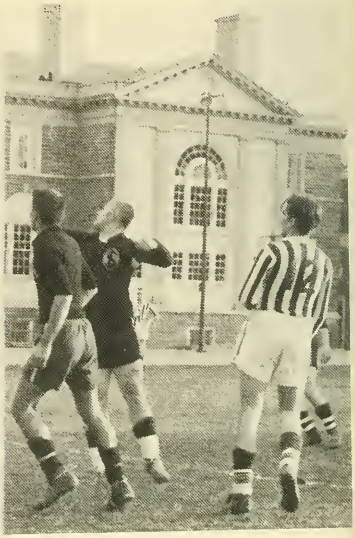
An anxious moment before every game was when the coin was tossed. Here La Salle Co-Captains Bob Rumer and "Murph" Szymkowski await decision along with Glassboro's captains.

Members of the La Salle College Soccer Team: G. Eliaszewski, A. Harilywn, K. Gallagher, J. Nolan, J. Smith, Coach; R. Graham, V. Szymkowski, J. McCauley (on Szymkowski's shoulders), J. Kozak, T. Beckett, R. Allig, V. Lyzianski, R. Rumer, D. Mundt, E. Suez, R. McLernan, P. Kennedy. (Not shown, Ted Kamish and Jack Galloway.)
Despite the Explorers' unimpressive showing, spirit always ran high on the team, and no game was conceded before it was played.

Joe McCauley clears the ball while on the ground. Ted Kamish, Ed Suez, Ron Allig and "Murph" Szymkowski come to his assistance. The Explorers dropped the match, 4-2.

Ken Gallagher and Adrian Harilywn charge down on a free ball along with a Glassboro halfback. La Salle's moxie and speed were too much for the inexperienced Glassboro team which succumbed to La Salle, 1-0.

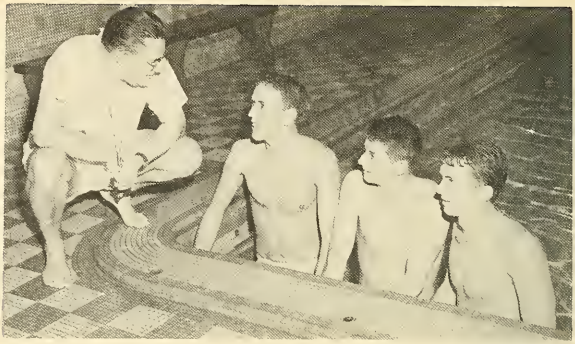
"What happened to the ball?" says the high hurdling Textile lineman. "Murph" Szymkowski, who actually is jumping, heads it out of the way of the score-minded Weaver. Ed Suez backs up "Murph's" play.



The educated toe of Co-Captain Bob Rumer is about to give that ball a long ride. Despite a badly injured ankle, Bob starred in this match against Muhlenberg, which the Explorers won, 4-3.

Finishing their collegiate soccer careers are Ed Suez, Jack Galloway, Vince Szymkowski, Bob Rumer and Joe McCauley. All five are three year varsity veterans. By the way, Jack Galloway is not suffering from gas pains, he is singing (?).

"Pardon my foot," says Jerry Kozak, as he thwarts the scoring dreams of an ambitious Glassboro player. Kozak, who is only a sophomore, was a thorn in the side of all La Salle's opposition.



Coach Kirk discusses times and lineups with sprinters Gash, Kohler, and Sheehan. A master strategist, Joe's evaluation of his opponents and efficient use of his own men was the major factor in the team's success.

Swimming

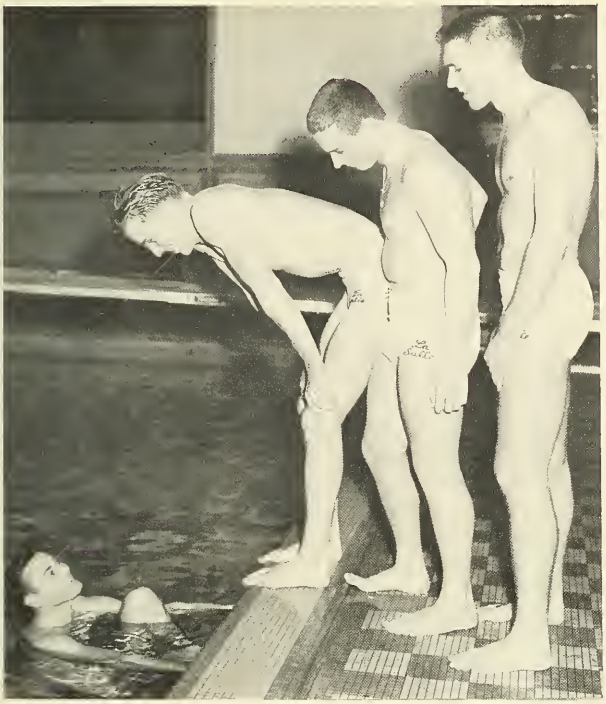
The Explorer swimming team continued its winning ways for the third straight year during 1957 by extending its undefeated streak to thirty-four meets. The 1956 Metropolitan Champions notched dual meet victories against such teams as Villanova, Seton Hall, Lafayette, West Chester, Penn, Stroudsburg, and six others. At the season's end, the tankmen traveled to Lancaster to meet eleven other Middle Atlantic teams for the Conference championship. After a number of anxious moments occasioned by West Chester, Rutgers, and Bucknell, the La Salle freestyle relay team captured first in the final event, and the Explorers emerged the new M.A.C. Champs.

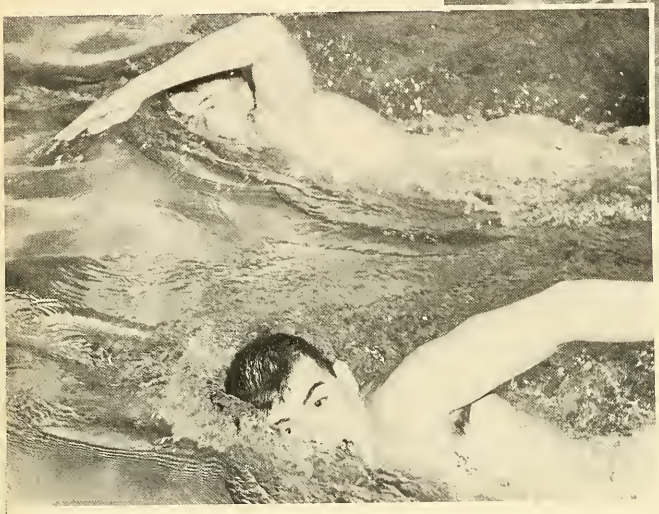
Five seniors were included on Coach Joe Kirk's well balanced team: Ernie Gash, freestyle sprints; Terry McLaughlin, backstroke and breaststroke; Tim Devlin, distance freestyle; Chip DiLascio, butterfly and breaststroke; and Cal Walters, butterfly.



The medley relay team of Jack Devlin, backstroke; Don Schmidt, breaststroke; Chip DiLascio, butterfly; and Gene Sharp, freestyle, is shown before the start of a race. After two successful seasons as a distance freestyler, DiLascio changed to the butterfly and breaststroke events and was a steady entry in those races. Only a disqualification against P.M.C. kept him from becoming the season's only triple winner.

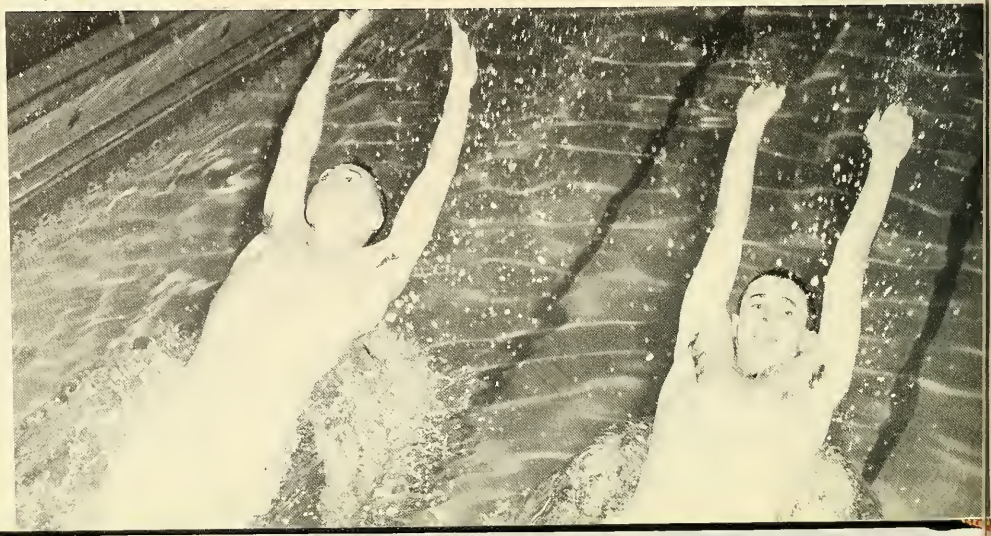
This quartet ensures La Salle's dominance in the freestyle events for at least one more year. Charlie Keller, All-American Jim Sheehan, Joe Lavin, and Buzz Kohler, all juniors, can account for over thirty points without any help; only 44 are needed to win. When the team was badly in need of a butterfly man, Sheehan sacrificed his national prominence in the freestyle events to train for that grueling race. This switch enabled the squad to extend its winning streak to three years.

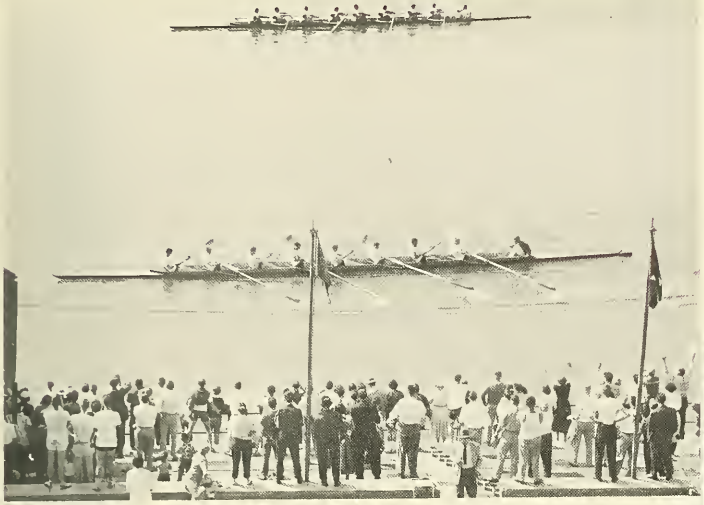
Referee Gotwalt watches closely as Schmidt touches and Sukalski takes off. Herr, waiting his turn, Borger, and Keller seem confident, but Kirk is glum, as usual. Al Lee and Ernie Gash discuss fingers. McLaughlin seems too tired to care about anything.



Joe Lavin and Tim Devlin are shown finishing first and second in the 440 yard freestyle. Lavin looks sleepy while Tim is still fighting to catch up. Joe has racked up the fastest distance times seen at La Salle in recent years.

McLaughlin and Flynn take off in the 200 yard backstroke. Terry has been one of the Explorers' big guns during the past three years. His specialities are backstroke and breaststroke, but he is proficient in any race. He exerted a tremendous demoralizing force on opponents by consistently beating their top stars.





The Explorer varsity eight (foreground) churns toward the finish line of the mile and five-sixteenths Schuylkill River course one and one half seconds ahead of Rollins College to regain the Dad Vail Title.

The sweat of the last four months is represented by the Varsity Dad Vail Trophy and the Freshman Brett Cup. The Dad Vail Trophy has been won by La Salle four times ('51, '52, '53, '56).

Crew

CREW—the up and coming sport at La Salle!

In the past four years, the strongbacks have left behind them many miles of sweat and toil which have surely paid off in victories. In '54, the crew, handicapped by the loss of key seniors, failed to make a showing. The '55 varsity rose to third place among its opponents. The Dad Vail Championship for small college crews was taken by the '56 varsity when they defeated ten other crews in what was one of the best races on the schuylkill that year. La Salle, coming from behind, beat Rollins College for the title by half a length. The crowd went wild, (so did the coach). Give Coach "Bear" Curran an outboard, a megaphone, and eight men, and he's sure to come up with a winning combination. Both "Bear" and the crew feel sure that they will retain the title this season. There is a bright future ahead for La Salle's oarsmen, and the day is not far off when we will see the sweepsters in the big leagues.

Bob Morrow is telling Coach Curran he would much rather pose for pictures than row at six o'clock in the morning.

The Freshman contingent of the Schuylkill Navy enjoys another afternoon on the river. They are: bow, E. Lucas; T. Peters, W. Heffer, P. Murray, H. Baierdoffer, B. Sutter, H. Todd, T. Henry, stroke; and T. Madden, coxswain.

These gents are the core of Bear Curran's crew. The seating is shifted many times during the season but you will always find G. Maketa, V. Szymkowski, F. McCloskey, J. Dever and T. Loschiavo (coxswain) in there pulling.

Very serious business is the strategy that is planned before each race. The Junior Varsity is being told how to row against Rutgers, a crew that is not conditioned for the Henley distance (1 5/16).

Three disappointed crews take a rest after the Dad Vail Junior Varsity race. Rollins took first place and is receiving the Cup while La Salle (rear), 2nd place; Amherst (middle), 3rd; and Brown (front), 4th, look on. However, this loss was soon overshadowed with the varsity's victory an hour later.

Varsity strongbacks take time out to indulge in the niceties of the sport and christen a new shell, the "E. Stanislaus", in honor of the President of the College. Miss Mary Lou Flasser, fiance of stroke Vince Szymkowski, christens the shell with "The champagne of bottled beer—Miller's Highlife".

Oh! What a beautiful morning hum: T. Loschiavo, J. Dever, B. Morrow, J. Hefferman, F. McClosky, V. Szymkowski, G. Maketa, R. Boyd, J. Galloway. The coach is making sure with double practices that his boys are in shape for Rutgers, Dartmouth and Rollins of the sunny south.

Unseen and unheard of Junior coach (except to his freshmen) is John McHugh. John is a fundamentalist and a master of precision rowing. The Freshmen, combining size and precision, intend to show it against such crews as Navy Plebes, Columbia and Dartmouth.

One of the happiest moments in the life of an oarsman is when the shell is being carried in for the day. Frank McClosky seems more interested in one of the girls' novice gigs.

Baseball

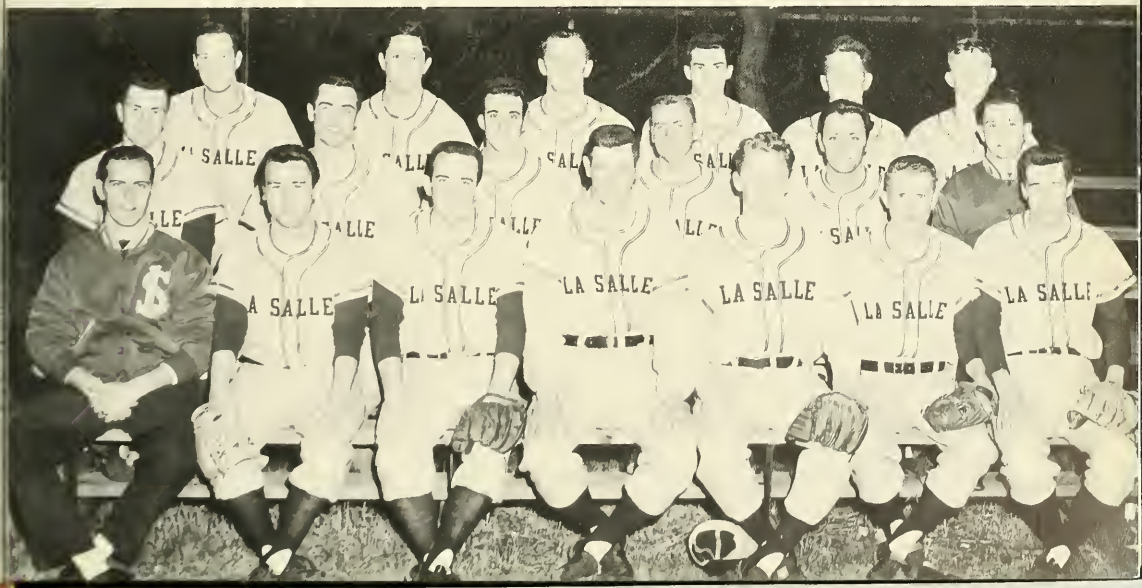
A determined La Salle nine opens its 1957 baseball season April 3 at Haverford College with high hopes of improving their disappointing 8-8 1956 record.

"If our pitching comes through," says coach Frank Hoerst, "the club should be better than last year." The seasoned La Salle mentor is minus six of his 1956 regulars, including Hank DeVincent, hard-hitting left fielder who hit .291 in the Cincinnati Redlegs farm system after graduation last year.

Twelve returning lettermen, however, brighten the Explorer hopes of capturing a NCAA berth to the national baseball tournament, an honor for which they were conceded the best chances of obtaining last year.

Hank Darragh became the center of attraction when the Explorers' lead began to dwindle and everyone was interested in just how much the Fords had picked up.
Frank Hoerst is worried about the way Elmer Lingo, his middle innings pitcher, is being hit.



This is the outfit that has promised to better last year's mediocre 8-8 record. In this lineup are twelve returning lettermen that have gained the experience for the job. The men are: First row: H. Darragh, Manager; C. McGee, B. Spearman, F. Hoerst, Coach; M. Schlacter, B. Mullin, E. Filliben. Second row: J. Sheehan, E. Lingo, T. Madden, B. Rumer, V. Valecce, C. Silvotti, Batboy. Third row: T. Schemely, D. Zelinski, E. Czerniakowski, E. Guacher, F. Finnegan, B. Rearden.

Tom Madden, Bill Mullin, Bob Rumer, and Elmer Lingo show their winning form. Madden and Mullin displayed control and speed in pacing La Salle to a 10-7 verdict over Haverford in the season's opener.

Ed Czerniakowski, captain, is about to hit one of the longest disputed fouls that these fans have ever seen. After the next pitch quite a discussion was centered around home plate questioning the umpire's eyesight.

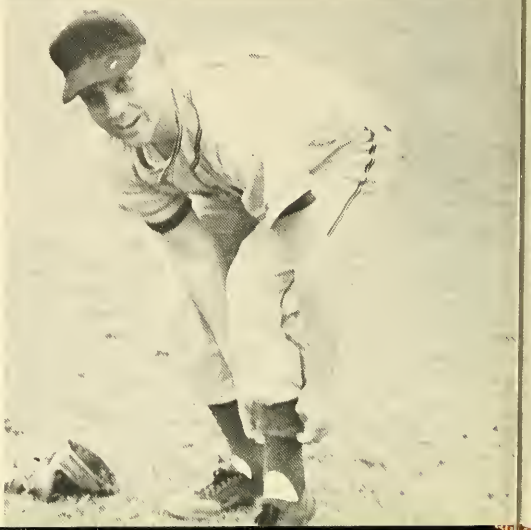
Bobby Rumer, two year letter winner on the mound, is expected to improve his 7-5 college record. Coach Hoerst is certain that the team's destiny is dependent upon Rumer's and Madden's performance this season.

The nucleus of last year's infield is back with junior Bernie Spearman at second base and Ed Filliben at shortstop. Returning service veteran, Vince Valleci, is expected to fill the hot corner slot vacated by Joe Toth and hard-hitting Jerry Sheehan will cover the initial sack and double with Ed Czerniakowski behind the plate.

Hoerst is depending on Mike Schlacter, Don Zelinski and two-year veteran, Frank Finnegan, to supply the power from the outfield.

Bob Rumer, last year's mound ace, and Tom Madden figure to carry the bulk of the pitching chores, with aid from Bill Mullen and Elmer Lingo, of last year's fledgling squad.

The Hoerstmen will be faced with a tough schedule that will include such heralded teams as: West Chester, a perennial power; Penn, with a veteran pitching staff; Villanova, with experienced sluggers; Muhlenberg; Temple; and St. Joseph's.



Ed Czerniakowski puts the handshake to Jerry Sheenan after Sheenan put the wood to Haverford in the third inning of the season opener. Frank Finnegan watches. The Explorers had four when the dust settled, and rode it home, 10-7.

Frank Hoerst shows 'em how Phillies pitchers used to lay them down. The bunt is almost a lost technique among the hit-happy Explorers, and it might not be a rare thing to sit through fifty innings of Hoerst rock-'em, sock-'em baseball without seeing a trace of anything getting pushed down the third base line except maybe the third baseman. Just the same, the Coach likes to be prepared. Students are Frank Finnegan, Bob Rumer, Ed Filiben, and Charlie McGee. The glove at bottom is unidentified.

Track

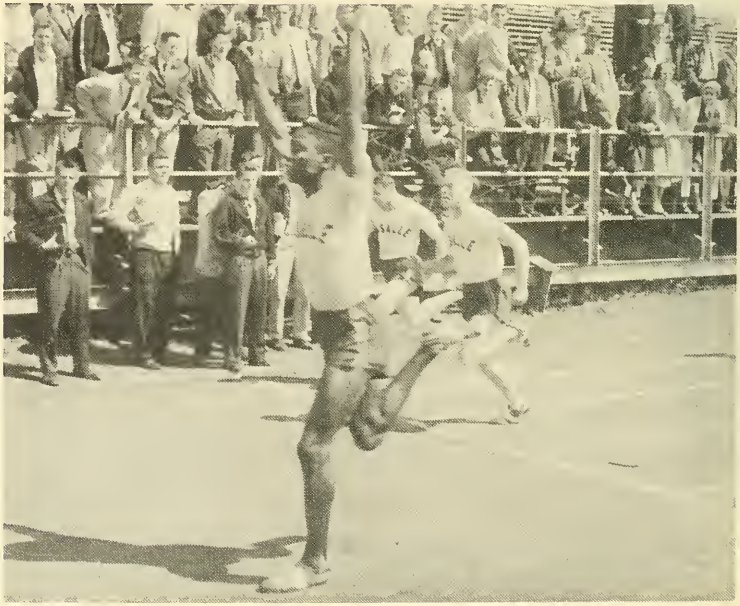
Coach Frank Wetzler's cindermen had their golden year in track in 1956 by winning the fifth MAC title and placing third behind Manhatten and Villanova in the ICAAAA's. Wetzler, on the basis of his reputation, has been offered and accepted a position to coach the Austrian National track team for the summer of '57. Another championship is expected this year with the return of: Vic Gavin, captain, who set the Middle Atlantic record for two years in a row in the low hurdles and won the same event in the ICAAAA's; Ira Davis, our Olympic contribution to the hop, step and jump, won three crowns in the Middle Atlantic's, (the 100, 200-tied the records, and broad jump) and was the high scorer in the ICAAAA's with 11 points; Al Turner, who ran fifth in the high hurdles in the ICAAAA's; Tony Spodobolski, who finished second in the MAC 100 and 200 yard dashes; Jim McGinn, who placed third in the 100 and 200 in the MAC and Earl Eldridge, who placed second in the ½ mile and ran first in the ¼ mile of the MAC's, only to be disqualified on a disputed technical in the latter. With this group the capable Wetzler will produce another winner.

Frank Wetzler keeps an eye on Philadelphia's Olympic package. Hop, step, and jump specialist, Ira Davis, spent plenty of summer afternoons doing this, and the chips came in when he qualified for the Olympics at Melbourne. Ira has given all the credit to Wetzler for the way he progressed so rapidly to become the country's number one man in this event.

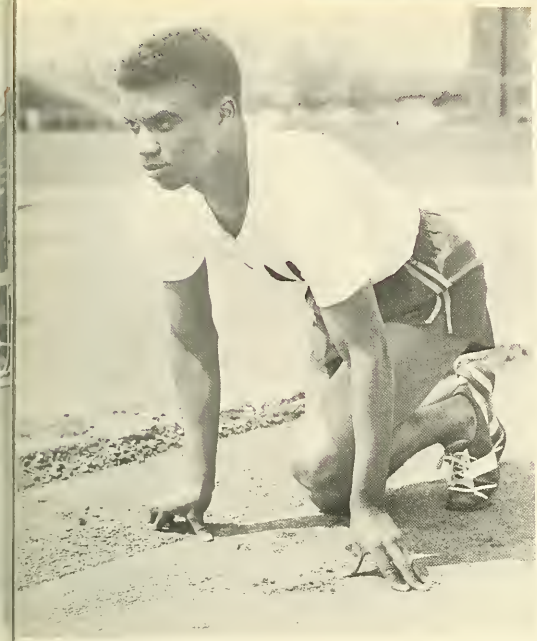
High steppers Al Turner and Vic Gavin leg out on Villanova's Holup as they clear the last rail in the 110 hurdles. Vic and Al captured this one respectively.

Jim Elliots' Bragg causes confusion at La Salle as the officials, with the aid of buckets, raise the bar to 15 feet 1 inch.

Ira Davis displays the form that has made him a consistent winner in the broad jump. The doubtful official eyes the take-off point which Ira left 23 feet 1 inch behind in his win against St. Joseph's.



In a warm-up for the Middle Atlantic Track and Field Championships, Ira Davis, Tony Spodobolski and Jim McGinn finish one, two, three. The Explorer thinclads are pictured above in the St. Joseph's meet and finished in the same order which garnered the L.S.C. tracksters the first three places in the M.A.C. 100 yard dash.



Two of the highpoints of the M.A.C. championship track team were Tony Spodolboski and Al Watson. Spodolboski, a dependable veteran, kept turning in a great performance in the 100 and 220. Al Watson, a promising soph, hopes to fill the winged shoes of Spodolboski.

Jim McGinn, a contributor to La Salle's mile relay team which turned in the second best performance in the College Class Mile Relay and the Middle Atlantic Conference Track and Field Association One-Mile Relay Championships, shows grim determination as he completes the broad jump in the Villanova meet. The Explorers' Middle Atlantic Champions lost to the highly rated 'Cats by a slim margin.

Vic Gavin snaps the tape to bring home La Salle's first American championship in the 480 yard shuttle relay at the Penn Relays in the time of 1:00.8. Rounding out the championship quartet were Al Turner, Paul Mita and Mark Harmon.

Members of the Racquet Club pause during pre-season practice with able Coach Art Condon. Kneeling are Ed Gruber, Ralph Perez, and senior lettermen Matt Neale and Jerry Keneipp. Standing are veteran Tommy McLennigan, Coach Condon and newcomer Dave Lugo.

Tennis

With seventy per cent of the 1956 team returning to the racket squad this season, Coach Art Condon finds himself with a potentially strong club. Among the veterans to return are Ed Gruber, Jerry Keneippe, Mat Neale, Jim Rose and Tommy McLennigan. Promising young stars joining the netmen for the '57 season are Dave Lugo and Ralph Perez. Among this year's matches are ever-strong Haverford and Swarthmore, and trips to Easton, Valley Forge, Reading and the State of Delaware. This season's rugged five weeks schedule expects to bear more fruit than the netmen's unblemished record of prior years. Future prospects for the Condonites look brighter now than ever as many promising freshmen and transfer students storm the courts with blazing services and accurate placements. Their capabilities make them fine replacements for seniors Kenieppe, Neale and Rose.

Tennis Coach Art Condon is showing veteran netmen the proper stance and form of the forearm shot. Running through the motion is senior varsity letter-winner Jerry Keneipp, while Matt Neale, also a senior letter-winner, looks on.

Aspirants for the up and coming tennis team are Bill Barry and Tom Shaudis, who join in doubles to overcome their opponents during a pre-season match.

Golf

"We're going to be a lot stronger than last year and I'm really enthused over this year's team" was Coach Robert Courtney's statement. The reason he's enthused is because returning lettermen Ed "The Unbeatable" Higgins, Joe Yambor, and Dave Besselman will be ably backed up by three very promising sophomores; Bob Rowland, Bob Davine, and John Lavin. Coach Courtney feels that this year's team is very well balanced and will win a good number of the twelve matches scheduled for this year. We know they will!

Big Ed Higgins rolls one in on Philmont's seventeenth. Ed, La Salle's number one man for the past two seasons, is out on the prowl again this year. Opponents beware!

Dave Besselman blasts out of trap at Philmont on way to victory over St. Joseph's. Dave is being counted on heavily by Coach Courtney to continue his winning ways.

Joe Yambor displays form under the watchful eyes of Coach Robert Courtney, Ed Higgins, and Dave Besselman. Next to Higgins, Joe was La Salle's best point getter last year and is anxious to hit the links again this year. He's one of the reasons Coach Courtney is smiling.

Rifle

La Salle College has not one, but three rifle teams. The Senior ROTC, College Varsity and Freshman. All three of these squads have better sharpshooters than their season records would indicate. Contrary to popular belief, firing a rifle in small-bore competition is no easy task. There is no such thing as a "natural" good shot. Breath control and trigger-squeeze are but two of the fine arts one must master to be successful in competition.

Keeping their rifles in "Zero" condition is a necessary task of the rifle team. Here, under the watchful eye of Captain Fleck, members of the team prepare their rifles for firing.

Jack McIlhenny (sitting position) and Pete Fraley (offhand position) "snap in" on their targets before an important match. Pete Fraley's serious expression does not mean he once served on a firing squad!

Cross-Country

La Salle's biggest resistance was in the form of St. Joe's and Villanova, the MAC and ICAAAA Cross-country champions. Victories over Penn, Lafayette and Temple and a two-point losing effort to West Chester rounded out the season, a season that found the harriers placing fourth in the MAC. The team was composed of Seniors Eldridge and Ambrogi; Juniors Butler, McCabe, Scanlin, Delaney, and Evangelisto; and Sophomores Jefferson and McAnaney. The season's outstanding runner was Earl Jefferson, a sophomore, who was beaten to the tape only once in dual meet competition. He climaxed the season as individual winner of the MAC cross-country championships, establishing a new course record of 21:33. Much unexpected help was given letter-winners McCabe, Eldridge, and Butler by way of Joe Scanlin and Pat Delaney.

Jefferson, Butler, Eldridge, and McCabe smell tape 20 yards from victory in the Temple meet won by La Salle. This was La Salle's most impressive victory of the season.

Joe McAnaney attempting to save face, tries in vain to beat Temple's ace, Bill Loftus, for fourteenth place honors. Joe hopes in the hereafter the last will be first.

"Where there is unity, there is strength", stated Coach Wetzler as he runs his harriers through the paces in Wetzler's Woods in preparation for the first meet of the season.

Master of Arts in Religion

Two things are necessary for a Master of Arts in Religion. First he must know well the truths of his Faith. To acquire this knowledge he spends long hours in private study.

Second he must put his knowledge into use. The best place for a Brother to do this is in the chapel. Here he can give back to God the fruits of his study.
